ANEXSYS DEBUTS ROADMAP TO IMPLEMENTING SUCCESSFUL
E-GOVERNMENT STRATEGIES IN COMPANY WEBCAST

ACADEMIC AND TECHNOLOGY ANALYST COLLABORATORS JOIN ANEXSYS TO INTRODUCE
'RETURN-ON-INVESTMENT FOR E-GOVERNMENT' PUBLICATION

CHICAGO (June 26, 2001) – Anexsys, a leading information technology company and provider of comprehensive e-government solutions, announced today its Webcast to debut 'A Primer: Return-on-Investment for e-Government,' a guide for public sector CIOs and technology decisions makers to measure the costs and benefits of applying technology initiatives to serve constituents.

The Primer is based on research conducted by Anexsys, the META Group, a leading information technology research and consulting firm and professors from Indiana University – Bloomington, School of Public and Environmental Affairs. The Webcast will be hosted on July 26, 2001 at 11 am CST/12 pm EST.

“As the public sector begins focusing attention and dollars on technology initiatives, CIOs are asked to justify present and future investments without flexible, government-specific tools for evaluating and analyzing each technology project,” Anexsys Vice President of Sales and Marketing, Patricia O’Donnell said. “The Primer outlines a framework for CIOs to begin measuring the benefits – tangible and intangible – and the costs -- direct and indirect -- brought to both government and its constituents.”
